Overview

This two-day journey departs from Venice in the evening, continues to the beautiful Florence, before arriving to the Eternal City.

Your Itinerary

DAY 1

VENICE

Begin your journey with a private water taxi transfer to Venezia Santa Lucia Station, where you board La Dolce Vita Orient Express in the evening as it departs towards Tuscany. Once on board, settle into your private cabin before the evening continues in the Restaurant Car, where a menu created by three-Michelin-starred Chef Heinz Beck is served. Later, the atmosphere moves to the Bar Car, where a live performance with piano and vocals brings music and entertainment to the journey as the train travels through the night.

DAY 2

FLORENCE AND ROME

The second day begins gently, as the landscape moves past your window and breakfast is served in your private cabin or in the Restaurant Car. Upon arrival in Florence, you step into the cradle of the Renaissance, where art, light, and history are present at every turn. You may explore the city at your own pace or choose curated experiences that reveal its most iconic places and quieter corners. In the afternoon, you return on board as the journey continues south. The Tuscan landscape slowly gives way to softer light and open horizons, carrying you towards Rome. The experience comes to an end in the Eternal City, where the journey closes amid its timeless energy and layered history.

Frequently Asked Questions

How long is the journey from Venice to Rome via Florence?

It is a two-day, one-night one-way journey. The train leaves Venice in the evening, runs south through the night, gives you the second day in Florence, and then continues through Tuscany to finish in Rome that same evening.

How do I reach the train in Venice?

A private water taxi transfer brings you to Venezia Santa Lucia station, which stands directly on the Grand Canal, so you arrive at the platform by water. Boarding is in the evening, and the train departs towards Tuscany once guests are settled in their cabins.

What happens on the first evening on board?

You settle into your private cabin as Venice slips away, then dine in the Restaurant Car from a menu created by a three-Michelin-starred chef. Later the Bar Car takes over, with live piano and vocals accompanying the journey south through the night.

How much time do I get in Florence?

Florence fills the middle of day two. You arrive in the morning and return on board in the afternoon, which gives you a solid half-day in the city. You can explore at your own pace or take one of the curated experiences covering both the famous sights and the quieter corners.

What is worth seeing in Florence in a half-day?

The historic centre is compact and walkable, so the cathedral and its dome, the Piazza della Signoria and the Ponte Vecchio all sit within a short radius of each other. If you want to go inside a major gallery, book that ahead of time, because queues can consume the time you have.

Where does the journey end?

In Rome, after an afternoon running south through the Tuscan landscape as the light softens and the horizons open out. You disembark in the Eternal City, and most guests add nights there afterwards, which we are happy to arrange along with your transfer.

What cabin categories are available?

Deluxe Cabin and Cabin Suite are offered. The train has 12 Deluxe cabins, 18 suites and one La Dolce Vita Suite in total, all en-suite and served by a dedicated steward, with interiors drawn from Italian design of the 1960s. Current fares by category are shown on this page.

How much does this journey cost?

Fares start from about EUR 2,890 per person based on two guests sharing a cabin, which makes this the most accessible route in the collection. Prices vary by cabin category and date, and the exact fare for each departure is shown on this page.

What is included in the fare?

Included are your cabin for the night, all meals on board with menus curated by three-Michelin-starred chef Heinz Beck, selected beverages including drinks served with meals, the off-train experiences described in the itinerary, live entertainment in the Bar Car and dedicated cabin steward service.

What is not included?

Travel to Venice and onward from Rome is not part of the fare, nor are personal expenses, gratuities, travel insurance, optional curated experiences or anything not expressly listed in the itinerary. Hotel nights at either end can be quoted separately with private transfers.

How often does this journey run?

It is the most frequently scheduled itinerary in the collection, with departures currently loaded from 10 December 2026 through to 18 November 2027. The full list of dates, each with its own fare, appears on this page and can be booked directly.

Which season suits this route best?

Spring and autumn are the most rewarding: Florence is comfortable to walk, the Tuscan countryside is at its best from the windows, and the crowds are thinner than in summer. Winter departures are quieter and atmospheric but give you fewer daylight hours in the city.

Is one night on board enough?

For many guests it is, since a single night still gives you dinner in the Restaurant Car, an evening in the Bar Car, a night in your cabin, breakfast on the move and a full excursion. If you want more, the collection includes two- and three-night itineraries from Rome.

Can dietary requirements be met?

Generally yes, but the galley is small and the menus are set for each departure, so tell us about allergies, intolerances or dietary preferences when you book rather than once you are on board. We pass the details on so the kitchen can plan around them.

Can I take a cabin for sole use?

Yes, on request and with a supplement, because the headline fare assumes two people sharing. Single-use cabins are limited in number, so ask early for the date you want and we will confirm the current rate before you commit to anything.

What are the deposit and balance terms?

A deposit of 30 percent of the tour price confirms your cabin and is non-refundable. The balance is due 125 days before departure, and bookings made within 125 days of departure are payable in full at the time of booking. Your

Are there reduced rates for children?

Yes, in two bands, under 5 and 5 to 12, with the age taken at the departure date rather than the booking date. The cabins are compact and the tone on board is adult, so it suits older children. Talk to us before booking as a family and we will advise.

How much walking is involved?

Only in Florence, and only as much as you choose. The centre is flat but paved in stone and closed to most traffic, so you are on foot for the time you are there. Comfortable shoes make the half-day far more enjoyable than smart ones.

Can this be combined with a journey in the other direction?

Yes. Several itineraries run from Rome up to Venice, by way of Bolgheri or the Ligurian coast, so pairing them with nights in one city between the two makes a longer trip. We offer the complete collection and can build the combination around your dates.
