Overview

Step aboard for a three-day roundtrip journey through the heart of Tuscany, culminating in one of Italy's most legendary spectacles: the Palio di Siena.

Your Itinerary

DAY 1

ROME

Your experience begins with a private transfer to La Dolce Vita lounge at Rome Ostiense Station, where refined hospitality sets the tone for the journey ahead. As evening falls, the train departs the Eternal City, and you settle into your elegant cabin.

In the Restaurant Car, a three-Michelin-starred dinner by Chef Heinz Beck unfolds – each course inspired by the season and paired with fine regional wines, as the twilight landscapes of Tuscany glide past your window.

Later, the Bar Car comes alive with music and laughter. A pianist and vocalist fill the night with timeless melodies, capturing the romance and effortless glamour of Italian evenings.

DAY 2

SIENA

On the morning of the great event, awaken to the gentle rhythm of the train and the soft Tuscan light streaming through your cabin window. Breakfast is served, to be enjoyed in the comfort of your suite or in the elegant Restaurant Car. Then, the day is yours to savour aboard La Dolce Vita Orient Express as you glide through the rolling landscapes of Tuscany. Play table games in the Bar Car, take in the ever-changing views from the comfort of your cabin, or simply embrace the pleasure of slow travel. At midday, return to the Restaurant Car for a leisurely lunch inspired by the passing landscapes before a private transfer takes you to Siena.

Take your place in a historic palazzo overlooking the square, an elegant aperitivo awaits before stepping to an exclusive vantage point to witness the Palio.

As twilight descends, relish a refined Tuscan dinner, where regional wines and seasonal dishes honor the day's excitement. Later that evening, reboard La Dolce Vita Orient Express. The after-party continues in the Bar Car, where live piano melodies, cocktails, and conversation carry on the night.

DAY 3

ROME

Wake gently to breakfast in your cabin or the elegant restaurant car, as the La Dolce Vita Orient Express glides softly through the Tuscan hills. By late morning, you arrive at Rome Ostiense Station, where your unforgettable Palio journey comes to a close. From the train's lounge, you step back into the Eternal City, carrying with you the echoes of Siena's drums, the thrill of the race, and the lingering magic of Italy's most storied traditions.

Frequently Asked Questions

What is the Siena and the Palio journey?

It is a three-day, two-night round trip from Rome aboard La Dolce Vita Orient Express, timed so that the middle day falls on the Palio di Siena, the bareback horse race run around the Piazza del Campo. You sleep on board both nights and travel out to Siena for the race itself.

When does this journey depart?

The departure currently on sale leaves Rome on 1 July 2027, with the race day falling on day two. Because the Palio is held on fixed dates each year, this itinerary runs only when the race does, which is why the calendar on this page is so short.

Where do we watch the Palio from?

Guests take their place in a historic palazzo overlooking the Piazza del Campo, which is the square the race is run around. Watching from a private vantage point above the crowd is a very different experience from standing in the centre of the packed piazza.

What is the Palio di Siena?

It is a bareback horse race between the contrade, the historic districts of Siena, run on a track of earth laid around the Piazza del Campo. It lasts barely ninety seconds but is preceded by a day of drumming, flag-throwing and processions, and it is the centre of civic life in the city.

How does the first day of the journey unfold?

A private transfer brings you to the La Dolce Vita lounge at Rome Ostiense, and the train leaves the city as evening falls. Dinner follows in the Restaurant Car, with courses built on seasonal produce, and later the Bar Car fills with music from a pianist and vocalist as Tuscany slips by outside.

What happens on the morning of the race?

You wake on board to breakfast in your cabin or the Restaurant Car, and the morning is yours as the train glides through the Tuscan hills. Lunch is served in the Restaurant Car before a private transfer takes you into Siena for the afternoon and the race itself.

How does the journey end?

After the Palio you return to the train for the night. On the final morning you take breakfast in your cabin or the Restaurant Car as the train runs back down through the hills, arriving at Rome Ostiense by late morning, where the journey finishes in the centre of the city.

What cabin categories are available?

The itinerary is offered in Deluxe Cabin and Cabin Suite categories. The train carries 12 Deluxe cabins, 18 suites and one La Dolce Vita Suite, all en-suite with a dedicated steward. On a date as sought after as the Palio, the choice of category narrows early.

How much does this journey cost?

Fares open from about EUR 9,440 per person based on two guests sharing a cabin, and vary by cabin category. The exact fare for this departure is shown on this page, which is the figure to rely on for the date and cabin you are considering.

What is included in the fare?

Included are two nights on board in your chosen cabin, all meals with menus curated by three-Michelin-starred chef Heinz Beck, selected beverages including drinks served with meals, the transfer to Siena and the viewing arrangement for the race as described in the itinerary, live music in the Bar Car and dedicated steward service.

What is not included?

Travel to Rome and home again is not part of the fare, nor are personal expenses, gratuities, travel insurance or anything not expressly listed in the itinerary. Hotel nights in Rome before or after the journey can be arranged separately, and we will quote them with transfers.

Why book the Palio through a train journey rather than a hotel in Siena?

Siena is very small and completely full on race days, so beds inside the walls are scarce and expensive. Travelling on the train means your accommodation, meals and transfers are settled, you arrive for the afternoon and leave when it suits you, and there is no scramble for a room on the night.

How crowded is Siena on race day?

Extremely. Tens of thousands of people fill the city and the Piazza del Campo from the morning onwards, and the streets around the square are closed. That is part of the spectacle, but it means comfortable shoes, light clothing for the July heat, and patience on foot.

What are the payment terms?

A deposit of 30 percent of the tour price confirms your cabin and is non-refundable. The balance is due 125 days before departure, and bookings made within 125 days of departure are payable in full at the time of booking. Your written confirmation shows the exact amounts and the dates they fall due.

Can I book a cabin for sole use?

Yes, on request and with a supplement over the per-person sharing fare. There are only about thirty cabins on the entire train, so single-use space on a Palio departure is very limited and should be requested as soon as you decide to travel.

Are there reduced rates for children?

Two child bands apply, under 5 and 5 to 12, with the age taken at the departure date. The race day is long, hot and crowded, and the atmosphere on board is an adult one, so this itinerary suits older children rather than young ones.

What should I wear for the race and on board?

For Siena in July, light clothing, a hat and comfortable shoes you can stand in for a few hours. On board, evenings in the Restaurant Car and Bar Car call for smart-casual dress in keeping with the 1960s Italian styling of the train.

How do I get to Rome for the start?

Travel to the departure city is not included in the fare. Rome is served by Fiumicino and Ciampino airports and by fast trains from across Italy, and most guests arrive at least a night early. We can book a hotel in Rome and the private transfer to the lounge at Rome Ostiense.

How far in advance should I book a Palio departure?

As far ahead as possible. The train has fewer than thirty cabins, the race runs on one fixed date, and demand for it is worldwide, so this is among the first itineraries in the collection to sell out. If the date matters to you, book as soon as it opens.

How do I ask a question or book Siena and the Palio?

Email travel@palacetours.com, call 786-408-0610, or message us on WhatsApp at <https://wa.me/17864080610>, where a travel specialist or our AI assistant will answer. The departure shown on this page can be booked directly, and we can add hotel nights and transfers in Rome at either end.
